

Thomas Dressendörfer

German (born 1958)
Owner of DCS-Consulting

Thomas Dressendörfer has had a progressive career in finance, holding key senior finance positions (CFO of major business units/regions) in several international companies, including Straumann, Uster Technologies, Randstad, The Nielsen Company, Procter & Gamble, and Baumüller. His career has thus brought him through the Healthcare and Consumer Products industry, as well as the Personnel Services, Market Intelligence, and Mechanical Engineering sectors – in various countries. 2008 he moved to Switzerland and first joined Uster Technologies Ltd, a publicly traded company in the cotton quality testing industry, where he has been for 4 years Chief Financial Officer and a Member of the Executive Committee. During this period Uster Technologies went through a major transformation process regaining previous high profit levels. In the following 4 years he has been Chief Financial Officer and a Member of the Executive Committee with Straumann, a publicly traded company in the dental implant industry, where he has contributed significantly to the past years success. Since the beginning of 2016 he started up his own company (www.dcs-consulting.ch) with focus on support for high value and complex business project such as turnaround cases. He brings along as well extensive experience in M&A transactions.

Since June 2016 Thomas Dressendörfer has been with Tom Tailor Holding SE. As CFO, he is responsible for finance and accounting, controlling, investor relations, human resources, auditing, taxes and legal affairs.

Thomas Dressendörfer is a German citizen with a wide cultural background: in addition to his international professional experience, he grew up abroad and then studied in Germany, gaining a Masters in Business Administration and Economics from the University of Erlangen-Nuremberg.

